RE: Overloading of Trucks

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to you from the Ontario Dump Truck Association regarding a complaint we received concerning overloading.

Overloading has long been a recurring problem in this industry. Overloading of dump trucks is not only illegal; it also endangers public road users and causes an adverse impact on the environment. This includes its effects on site safety in both construction site and the disposal facilities. The Ontario Dump Truck Association has made it clear of the consequences of overloading so that it does not happen.

We ask you to solicit your cooperation on the control of overloading of dump trucks on your site. We look forward to hearing back from you in the next several days regarding what is being done to solve this matter.

If the problem is not solved in a timely matter, there will be consequences and further actions will be taken.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the matter, feel free to contact our office.

Sincerely,

Baljeet Singh
